18. Transfer of Leased Premises by Lessor

Part 8 of the Real Property Law applies to the Registration of Leases.

PART 3: SPECIFIC PROVISIONS FOR RESIDENTIAL LEASES20. Application of this Part 3

The provisions in this Part 3 shall apply to Residential Leases only.

21. Residential Lease preparation costs

A provision in a Residential Lease that requires a Lessee to bear any fees, costs or charges incurred by the Lessor in connection with the preparation of a Residential Lease is invalid.

22. Security Deposits

- (1) The payment of a Security Deposit under a Residential Lease is not mandatory, and will be paid only by agreement between the parties to a Residential Lease.
- (2) A Lessor who receives a Security Deposit holds it on trust for the Lessee, or a Relevant Person, until the Security Deposit is paid to the Registrar under Article 24(2).
- (3) A Security Deposit shall not exceed an amount equal to ten (10) percent of the annual Rent of a Residential Lease, irrespective of the period of the Lease.
- (4) A Security Deposit may be retained by a Lessor in circumstances where a new Residential Lease is being entered into between the same parties, provided that:
 - (a) the Lessor may ask for a corresponding increase in the Security Deposit to reflect an increase in the Rent under the new Residential Lease; and
 - (b) the Lessee may ask for a repayment of part of the Security Deposit to reflect a decrease in the Rent under the new Residential Lease.
- (5) A Security Deposit may only be used to compensate the Lessor after a Residential Lease has ended for the following purposes:
 - (a) non-payment of Rent;
 - (b) damage to the Residential Premises, excluding Fair Wear and Tear; and
 - (c) damages for breach of contract, inclusive of direct, indirect and consequential losses.
- (6) Except as otherwise expressly agreed between the parties to a Lease, a Lessee may not use a Security Deposit (or any part thereof) towards payment of Rent during the term of a Residential Lease.

- (1) Where a Lessee is required to pay a Security Deposit in respect of a Residential Lease, the Lessor may, before the Lessee first enters into occupation of the Leased Premises, provide the Lessee with two (2) copies of a condition report signed by or on behalf of the Lessor specifying the state of repair and general condition of the Leased Premises on the day specified in the condition report.
- (2) A Lessee that has been provided with a condition report in accordance with Article 23(1) must, within twenty (20) days after first taking occupation of the Leased Premises, return a signed copy of the condition report to the Lessor with an endorsement to the effect that the Lessee either:
 - (a) agrees with the condition report; or
 - (b) disagrees with the condition report, setting forth the details of such disagreement.
- (3) Unless a Court finds that a Lessee has a valid reason not to have complied, failure by a Lessee to return a condition report in accordance with Article 23(2) within the required time period will render the condition report provided by the Lessor as evidence of the condition of Leased Premises, without any further proof being required, in any subsequent dispute between the Lessor and Lessee relating to the state of repair and condition of the Residential Premises.

- (4) Both the Lessor or the Lessee may refer a disagreement in respect of a condition report to be finally resolved by an independent expert agreed to in a Residential Lease, failing which the details of disagreement listed by a Lessee in respect of a condition report may be used as evidence as to the state of repair and condition of the Residential Premises in any subsequent dispute before the Court between the Lessor and the Lessee.
- (5) Where a Lessee remains in a Leased Premises due to a new Residential Lease being entered into between the same parties, the Lessee shall provide reasonable access to the Lessor, or his representative, to produce a new or supplementary condition report in respect of the Residential Premises, in which case the provisions of Article 23(2) shall similarly apply to any such new or supplementary condition report, provided that the twenty (20) days period to respond shall run from the date of entering into a new Residential Lease.
- (6) If a Lessor fails to provide a new or updated condition report in respect of a new Residential Lease pursuant to Article 23(5), the original condition report provided by the Lessor, together with all the unresolved disagreements in respect thereof originally listed by the Lessee, will be deemed applicable in respect of the new Residential Lease, unless the Lessee provides a new or updated notice of disagreement to the original condition report, setting forth the details of:
 - (a) any disagreement thereto; and
 - (b) any additional Fair Wear and Tear since the Lessee's original occupation of the Leased Premises, in which case the latter shall supplement any endorsements previously made by the Lessee, if any, to the original condition report provided by the Lessor.

- (7) The provisions of Article 23(4) shall also apply to any disagreement between the parties under Article 23(6).
- (8) In the event no condition report is ever provided by a Lessor the Court shall draw its own inferences from whatever evidence is presented at the time of a dispute.

24. Security Deposit scheme

25. Proceedings in respect of non-payment of Security Deposits

- (1) Where a Security Deposit has been paid in connection with a Residential Lease, the Lessee, or a Relevant Person, may enquire from the Registrar, during or after the expiry of a Residential Lease, whether the provisions of Article 24(2) have been adhered to in respect of a Residential Lease and the details of the amount deposited with the Registrar.
- (2) Where the Registrar has confirmed non-compliance by a Lessor in respect of his obligations under Article 24(2), a Lessee, or a Relevant Person, may make an application to the Court on the basis that Article 24(2) has not been complied with. - (1) On expiry or earlier termination of a Residential Lease, each of the Lessor and the Lessee shall sign a release form, in the form prescribed by the Registrar, confirming whether the Lessee is entitled to a refund of all or part of the Security Deposit and, if in part, the agreed portions to be retained by each of the Lessor and the Lessee.
- (2) Failing agreement between the parties in Article 26(1), either the Lessor or the Lessee may notify the Registrar, in the form prescribed by the Registrar, of the existence of a dispute regarding the release of the Security Deposit which dispute will be resolved by the Court, or by subsequent agreement of the parties, whichever is the earlier.

27. Refunds of Security Deposits

- (1) The Registrar must not pay out an amount of Security Deposit under this Part except:
 - (a) in accordance with an application for a refund made by the Lessor and the Lessee; or

- (2) A Lessee that is entitled to a reduction of a Security Deposit pursuant to Article 22(4)(b) may request the repayment of the reduced portion of a Security Deposit from the Registrar during the term of a
